

HOW TO CREATE DEVISED THEATRE WITH CHILDREN

BY CAROLINA GIAMMETTA-CORDES

Join Bigfoot Arts Education, the UK's largest provider of drama workshops for schools, on a one day workshop which explores how to create exciting and imaginative theatre with young people.

Creating a devised performance or leading improvisation exercises with children can sometimes be a struggle - particularly if the children concerned only feel they are doing "drama" if they are reading from a script or being directed in the traditional sense. This course explores the ways in which devised theatre can be exciting and fun for young people.

Carolina will explore how simple drama games can be used and developed to create environments, characters and themes. She will look at narrative structure and how you can create your own story, as well as looking at inspirational ways of how we can use text to create a unique piece of theatre that is completely owned by your participants but facilitated by you.

“This is the process I was most insecure about - Not anymore! I now feel confident I can facilitate devising to my group, thank you so much!” Past Participant
